Glenbrook Newsletter

BEST BITS FROM THIS WEEK

There have been many young scientists at Glenbrook this week 😊 Year 5 have investigated the effect of gravity through exploring and applying their knowledge to predict possible outcomes. Year 6 built circuits using switches, wires, buzzers and bulbs. They then created various investigations by testing their hypothesis and discovering the science behind their findings. Year 3 applied their classifying skills to Chinese plants. They identified and researched the features of the plants to then classify them in many different ways. EYFS children used their knowledge of Gurunsi houses to design their own patterned houses, including repeating patterns. Year 2 showed a love of learning when following maps that they created in Geography, to creating programmes for the Beebots to follow, ensuring they avoided obstacles and used their computational thinking to debug them. Well done Glenbrookers 😊

Reminders:

Bank holiday on the 3rd of May. We will look forward to seeing you back in school on Tuesday 4th May. Spring has sprung and we are having warmer weather. Please make sure your child has a water bottle in school every day to ensure they can hydrate and keep their brains ready for learning.
